RANDOM DISHCLOTH

Makes a boring knit a little more interesting

This is an easy concept that can be applied in a variety of ways. On all of the right side rows knit a number of stitches determined by "x" (my special random number between 1 and 6 for that row) and then purl 1. To get your number for x, you can use a random number generator (randomnumber.org) but you could easily use dice, spinners, or in a pinch just ask the next person you see to pick a number between 1 and 6!

DIRECTIONS

CO 33   ← Note: you could cast on any number of stitches if you prefer your dishcloths larger or smaller. This gets me about an 8 to 8.5 inch dishcloth.

K 4 rows

- RS rows: K3, K x, P1, K3
- WS rows: K3, P until 3 stitches remain, K3

Repeat these two rows until dishcloth measures about 7.5 inches

K 4 rows

Bind off

Variations

Use "x" for your number of knits and purls (example: if x =4 then k4, P4 for the row)

Instead of purls, try a k2tog and YO for randomly placed eyelets

Repeat the right side row for both right and wrong sides
